

Shovelful by Shovelful

July 14, 2017: Shovelful by shovelful the site is being prepared for the next phases—each has to do their part for the whole to be accomplished. “Kobelco’s” very capable operator is skillfully guiding the huge shovel to do just that. Today they were right next to the soon-to-be-adjoined Pineview wing.

The old broken-up cement was hauled away earlier. The shovel also took a break from digging to load many truckloads of dirt which had to be hauled away in order to make physical room for upcoming phases to keep the project moving forward.

Then Kobelco's shovel was back to digging the basement area under careful measuring and direction.

Here is part of the basement

Kobelco, his operator, and others get a nice weekend break!
