

Keep watching--in just a couple of days the front of the building will look quite different.

Sheathing the newly placed roof structures.

The shingles suddenly appeared on the peak of the roof, so they will likely be in place soon, too.

Lots of changes happening.

These “dormer” type structures were added over every two windows at the front of the building. Looks very nice. See below, too.

The front entrance is transforming as well.